has recently received a letter asking that the church record be looked up but a careful search reveals that no records can be found far back as 1852, and as the law up to the year 1857 did not require that such records be filed there is no such record on file in the office of the city clerk.

In the letter to Doctor Brown men-tion is made of the old Pearl street bo-tel, and the letter says that the marriage ceremony was performed at that place by the Rev. Thomas Dodgeson who was paster of the Methodist church in Burlington at that time.

There have been several instances in the past few years where a search for records has been made without success. Mrs. Davenport is at present living in the town of Ovid, Mich., and if any resident of the state remembers the circumstances of the marriage years ago an affidavit from such a person would be greatly appreciated.
